

Chim Edgar A. Dapiton

Activity 1
Who are you?

My guiding principles in living my life:

- Respect for self and others – Because I respect myself for who I am, and to respect other's to create a nice environment.
- Accountability – I display a high degree of morality and responsibility for my actions.
- Persistence – because it gives me vital experience, and maintains focus to achieve my goals.

How I am alike and different from the other:

- I'm not so sure if I am alike nor like the other's, but I definitely am different from others because I don't have other people's personal traits and skills, But I have my own personal traits and skills.

My accomplishment's was:

- Learning how to ride a bike without training wheels for the very first time
- Learning a new language
- Graduating from senior high school.
- Starting a new hobby
- Taking a solo trip
- Going on a road trip with friends
- My accomplishment may seem small to other's, but it has given me good memories to remember.

Which me and my family are proud of:

- My parents and myself are proud of me being able to finally graduate from High school, because I was a truant in my grade 11 senior high days.

My dream and future plans:

- My dream is simple, I just want to finish college to be fully independent.
- My plans are to Purchase things that I want with the money I work hard for.
- To travel around the world.
- To finally get my dream car and my most favourite dream motorcycle.
